

Companion Animal Management Pledge

Updated April 2012

Companion Animal Management aims to promote and facilitate a municipal environment of responsible and considerate ownership of dogs and cats and addresses the following: the well-being of the community, including animals as well as people; costs of animal control; wildlife and environmental protection; governance and community relations.

Municipalities are responsible for addressing issues such as public health, public safety, and use of public resources as they relate to pet ownership. The field of animal services operates within a complex and changing environment that requires an understanding of animal behavior, human behavior, and community behavior.

The development of a Companion Animal Management Plan engages the community by involving all stakeholders, and through outreach and marketing, guiding them to modify their behavior to support the municipality's responsible pet ownership goals, which are likely to include:

- Promoting socially responsible pet ownership through community engagement, outreach, and marketing.
- Creating pet-friendly communities where pet nuisance is minimized.
- Improving the care and protection of pet animals in the community.
- Decreasing relinquishment and abandonment of cats and dogs and improving re-homing rates.
- Reducing dog fights and dog bites.
- Increasing the numbers of canine good citizens.
- Reducing the number of dogs and cats euthanized in New Jersey each year.
- Enabling the municipality to take a consistent approach to companion animal management issues throughout the municipality.

- Providing a strategic plan to support the activities of animal services within the municipality.
- Reducing public and environmental nuisance(s) caused by dogs and cats.
- Managing the population of dogs and cats (including encouraging neutering of dogs and cats).

A Companion Animal Management Plan is a tool for municipalities to establish humane, efficient, and effective solutions to companion animal (cat and dog) issues. As a first step in the process of creating a Companion Animal Management Plan, municipal leaders commit to key essential principles to promote responsible pet ownership, end animal cruelty, encourage innovative approaches to improve effectiveness and reduce costs of animal services, and minimize nuisance complaints about companion animals. This commitment is demonstrated by adopting the Companion Animal Management Pledge.

Once the Pledge is adopted, the community can build upon that expressed intent by publicly soliciting residents, businesses, and other stakeholders to aid the development of a comprehensive plan.

Who should lead and be involved with this action?

You can develop a task force to adapt the model Pledge to reflect your community. The team can consist of stakeholders related to the effort, such as community planners, animal control officers, animal cruelty investigators, veterinarians, animal shelter staff, animal advocacy and service groups, and other relevant community stakeholders, such as businesses, residents, and social service organizations.

All levels of municipal government should be informed of the Companion Animal Management Pledge in order to appropriately adapt current responsibilities to be consistent with the Pledge provisions.

Timeframe

Depending on your town's process for adopting the Pledge, it is likely to require one to two months' time to adapt the Pledge, present it, and adopt it.

Project Costs and Resource Needs

While dedicated time from a municipal staff person or department is necessary to initiate and oversee the development of a Companion Animal Management Pledge, the activity is unlikely to incur significant costs.

Why is it Important?

The well-being of humans and animals is inextricably linked and integral to human quality of life, mirroring the general health of a community as a whole. If animals are not taken into consideration within the scope of community sustainability, a community leaves itself vulnerable to human-animal and human-human conflict resulting from animal population issues and cruelty, and valuable community resources are wasted.

In contrast, fostering respect for and understanding of the relationships between animals, and people, and the benefits provided by these interactions is a critical step towards sustaining a community's quality of life over the long term.

Municipalities and local animal groups do not, on their own, have the capacity to solve many pet ownership problems. Problems concerning cats and dogs arise as a result of a failure on the part of humans and result in difficult situations for pet owners and community members alike, sometimes with dire consequences for those involved, both people and animals.

Specifically, the problem of abandoned and feral animals in New Jersey is significant. According to the New Jersey Department of Health and Senior Services' Office of Animal Welfare, animal impoundment facilities take in over 100,000 animals annually. Approximately 37% of these animals are euthanized, which equals about 3,000 animals euthanized each month.

Although a clear cause and effect relationship is not always easy to identify, problems concerning cats and dogs in the community are linked to a number of factors, including some or all of the following: impulse acquisition; lack of knowledge or resources to provide adequate care; change(s) in circumstances for owners; unforeseen animal behavioral issues; unforeseen animal or human health issues; unexpected financial circumstances; abandonment or cruelty.

Solutions include education and training; financial support; provision of temporary accommodation; veterinary intervention; legal intervention; social services intervention; municipal intervention.

Preparation of a Companion Animal Management Pledge is the first step in committing to address related issues for a better quality of life. The Companion Animal Management Plan can provide a fresh opportunity for municipalities and their animal control and public health divisions to engage with individual residents, not-for-profit organizations, local businesses, and other relevant stakeholders in a local effort to improve the community's relationship with animals and to ensure socially-responsible pet ownership. This process provides a chance to identify innovative solutions that are relevant to the municipality, appropriate to meet the challenges, and acceptable to stakeholders.

With a high rate of stakeholder participation, it should be possible to balance the concerns of everyone who is likely to be affected. The development of a plan with clearly defined outcomes will enable communities to track and monitor progress within their community and to see measurable results. Reporting the success and progress of the program will allow community members to witness their participation, contributing to a community-wide movement.

What to do and how to do it (“How to”)

Below we have listed the requirements for earning points for this action.

1. The Pledge must be officially adopted and distributed to appropriate municipal personnel prior to or during the year you are applying for certification.
2. While the Pledge may be adapted to your municipality’s unique conditions, the core provisions of the model must be addressed. These include the intent to treat companion animals humanely, respectfully, and responsibly, as well as the items listed in the “What to Do” section of the model Municipal Pledge. At a minimum, the adopted Pledge must be distributed to Planning and Zoning Board members, as well as to the Health Department, Parks Department, Animal Control officers, and the Environmental Commission with a memo explaining expectations for its use and a list of the staff and their affiliations that are receiving the memo.

We have provided extensive guidance and recommendations for implementing the action. You do not need to follow this guidance exactly as long as your final product meets the requirements.

1. Form a task force to organize and lead the Companion Animal Management effort. The purpose of the Task Force is to identify local issues and key stakeholders, to set goals, and to measure and evaluate progress. The Task Force should engage as many stakeholder groups as possible, as well as the public and local media.
2. Select a leader to coordinate and serve as a point person for the action. The leader should have the ability to interface with municipal departments, have the support of the governing body, and know how to conduct public outreach.
3. Draft and introduce the Pledge of Municipal Support for Responsible Pet Ownership in the Community and provide for a public discussion period.
4. The Pledge should be officially adopted by the governing body and distributed to relevant municipal departments (Health Department, Animal Control, Parks Department, Planning and Zoning Board(s), Environmental Commission) with a memo explaining expectations for its use. The Pledge can be adapted as necessary from the following template:

Municipal Support for Responsible Pet Ownership Programs in the Community

RECOGNIZING that cats and dogs are an integral and valuable part of all communities, and contribute to the well-being of humans, whether as companions, service animals, or therapy pets, and UNDERSTANDING that municipalities have an important role in ensuring the well-being of animals while balancing the needs of pet owners and non-pet owners.

WHEREAS legislators and municipal officials report that the number of calls from citizens about animal related issues rival any other issue(s);

WHEREAS there are approximately 2.2 million owned dogs and 2.5 million owned cats in New Jersey;

WHEREAS New Jersey was the first state in the nation to develop an innovative state-wide spay/neuter program and all proceeds from the sale of Animal Friendly License Plates are used to reimburse participating veterinarians for spaying and neutering surgeries;

WHEREAS State responsibility for promoting responsible pet care and ensuring that pets do not suffer due to abuse, neglect, or lack of proper care in kennels, pet shops, shelters, and pounds (animal facilities) is vested in the Office of Animal Welfare within the New Jersey Department of Health and Senior Services;

WHEREAS The New Jersey Society to Prevent Cruelty to Animals (NJSPCA) and municipal Animal Cruelty Investigators (ACIs) are responsible for investigating and acting as officers for the detection, apprehension, and arrest of offenders against the animal cruelty laws;

WHEREAS New Jersey mandates training requirements for animal control officers and Animal Cruelty Investigators;

WHEREAS New Jersey impounds over 100,000 animals per year in animal shelters and impoundment facilities;

WHEREAS approximately 37% of the animals that enter New Jersey's impoundment facilities are euthanized, at a rate of around 3000 every month;

WHEREAS free-roaming unvaccinated cats and dogs present a potential health threat to humans through the spread of such zoonotic diseases as rabies, leptospirosis, toxoplasmosis, roundworms, animal bites, and environmental contamination from animal feces;

WHEREAS stray and unwanted pets place an enormous financial burden on municipalities and non-profit humane agencies organized to care for these animals; (To calculate an average per animal cost for your municipality, divide the total shelter expenditures - municipal animal control and shelter expenses -by the total number of animals served per year);;

WHEREAS it is more humane and cost-effective to reduce the number of unwanted animals than it is to impound and euthanize unwanted or unclaimed dogs and cats;

WHEREAS all dogs are required to be licensed in the municipality where they are housed and the majority of municipalities also require licensure of cats. (Current vaccination against rabies is a pre-requisite to licensure);

WHEREAS all municipalities are required to canvass their residents to locate unlicensed dogs;

NOW THEREFORE, we the municipality of _____, resolve to take the following steps with regard to our municipal responsibilities with the intent of making _____ a truly sustainable community.

It is our intent to do our utmost, within the bounds of our jurisdiction, to ensure that companion animals are treated humanely, respectfully, and responsibly through public education and through exercise of powers vested within New Jersey municipalities as follows:

Authority of municipalities:

Pursuant to New Jersey Statutes, all municipalities must appoint a certified animal control officer who shall be responsible for animal control within the jurisdiction of the municipality, including providing emergency veterinary care for injured stray animals and coverage outside of normal working hours;

The municipality in which an animal facility is located is responsible for issuing the license for that facility to operate;

The NJ Vicious Dog Law establishes a state-wide standard for municipalities to effectively address situations of vicious or potentially dangerous dogs, regardless of breed;

The Animal Population Control Program provides for low-cost spaying and neutering for pet owners adopting dogs and cats from New Jersey shelters, pounds, and animal adoption referral agencies and pet owners participating in one of several Public Assistance Programs.

The Municipality pledges to:

- Enforce all animal and rabies control statutes and regulations, including the requirement to pick up and impound all stray dogs and cats, excepting stray and feral cats in managed TNR programs.
- Work to improve the enforcement of animal cruelty statutes.
- Educate our community, including school children, about their responsibilities towards the pet animals they chose to keep.
- Institute, as appropriate, cat licensing ordinances and increase the percentage of licensed dogs and cats through ease of licensing and licensing enforcement measures.
- Identify and work to implement best practices to prevent unwanted breeding through effective animal control, availability of low-cost pet spaying and neutering services, public education, and pet-friendly rental and senior housing.
- Identify alternatives to euthanasia of adoptable companion animals, including utilizing foster homes, adoption networks and providing remedial behavior training services to existing and future owners.
- Assist in identifying resources to improve the conditions and increase the capacity of animal shelters and impoundment facilities and animal control services.

Resources

Calgary Model of Animal Services;

The City of Calgary's Animal & Bylaw Services' animal programs are considered to be some of the most successful programs on the continent. This is based on statistics such as Calgary's 88% return-to-owner rate for dogs and a 55% return to owner rate for cats which results in their low dog and cat euthanasia rates. These successes, along with a steady decrease in the number of aggressive dog incidents, have all been accomplished without specific breed banning or regulating the number of dogs and cats that citizens are allowed to own. Calgary's animal programs are also self-funding with no tax supported dollars used to develop and provide the services. Calgary Model of Animal Services
